

Bereskin & Parr ranked in Chambers Canada 2021 as a Leading IP Law Firm

September 9, 2020

Bereskin & Parr LLP is pleased to announce that the firm is ranked as a leading Intellectual Property law firm in the 2021 edition of Chambers Canada. B&P is also recognized in the Litigation practice area. "They are a top-shelf option in Canada," enthused one commentator, while another said: "They're one of the top boutiques in the country and they have deep technical expertise." Sources laud the firm's "very strong team," with one saying: "They are subject matter experts in the life sciences area and are customer-focused."

Congratulations to the firm's 3 professionals listed in the guide this year.

Robert MacFarlane and Donald Cameron are listed as leaders in IP litigation. "Donald Cameron is a prominent intellectual property expert and litigator with considerable experience in patent disputes," says Chambers. "He has particularly strong expertise in the life sciences sector, with notable clients in biotechnology and pharmaceuticals. Of counsel Robert MacFarlane is a well-respected intellectual property expert who is particularly proficient in patent issues related to the energy and manufacturing sectors."

Jennifer McKenzie is listed as leader in the Advertising & Marketing practice area. "Jennifer McKenzie operates an impressive practice servicing prestigious names in the food production sector," says Chambers. "Her expertise covers a broad range of issues, from product compliance to claims, regulatory complaints and intellectual property."

For more information on Chambers Canada 2021, visit chambersandpartners.com.